

In Pictures: Nip/Tuck For Two

© Comstock

Savvier Subjects

86% of the doctors questioned by the AAFPRS said that within the past year, they've observed that patients appear better-educated about plastic surgery. "People are coming into the office with a better idea of what they want," says Dr. Greg Wiener, a Chicago-based surgeon who specializes in cosmetic and reconstructive plastic surgery. They're also smarter about what the procedures entail, and how much they might cost.

More in ForbesLife

Most Popular Plastic Surgery For Men